

Dear Guests of Concord's Colonial Inn,

As you may well have heard, the State of Massachusetts will be continuing its current Stay-at-Home order through May 4, 2020 in response to the ongoing COVID-19 situation. As a result, the Hawthorne Hotel of Salem, the Publick House of Sturbridge, and Concord's Colonial Inn will be remaining closed to guests until that date. Based on current guidelines from the government and medical community, we feel this is the best course of action in terms of health and safety for all of you and the general public.

In the meantime, we will still be available to take phone calls on our main number, (978) 369-9200, regarding future reservations and existing bookings daily between the hours of 9am and 5pm. We are also responding to emails at colonial@concordscolonialinn.com.

While this delay is not what we had hoped for, and this crisis continues to be something to monitor and take seriously, the current circumstances are temporary. We will reopen and resume our full operations at these historic landmark properties as soon as it is safe and wise to do. I, for one, am excited to personally open the doors to all of you again and welcome our many loyal guests back to the Colonial Inn.

Please be well and take care of yourselves and your loved ones. We will continue to provide updates with any new information that becomes available. I look forward to welcoming you back to the Colonial Inn.

Sincerely,

Andy Seidel
General Manager
